

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An umbrella handle adapted for hanging to a closed item includes a handle coaxially connected to a central shaft to form an umbrella, a handle strap secured at 5 an inner end to the handle, and a clip hooking means provided at a predetermined position on an outer surface of an extension wall of the handle. By extending an outer section of the handle strap through 10 a closed item and turning the handle strap to engage the outer section with the clip hooking means, the umbrella handle is hung to the closed item, such as a handle of a handbag, a hanging rod, etc.
